Subject: Invitation Letter

Dear representative,

I am writing you in regard to our presentation Public and Environmental Health History – a novel approach to comprehensive review and promotion, which was presented by our Institute of Public and Environmental Health, Slovenia on the 15th World Congress on Environmental Health on 20–23 March 2018 in Auckland, New Zealand.

The ongoing project called 'Historia Sanitaria' was presented. This project is the realised model of recording the landmark events and historical achievements of the profession of public and environmental health and its promotion through the portal 'Historia Sanitaria'. It is an online magazine covering different periods of history as well as recent developments. It is a 'living form' of the contributions, which are continuously updated and upgraded.

As we agreed at the Congress, we would like to invite you and/or your colleagues to actively participate in the preparation of contributions on the historical development of the profession of public and environmental health in your country. There have already been cooperating colleagues from different countries of Europe and the United States of America,

All suggested posts should be written in English. They should contain a year, a title, the name of the country and basic information of the event and/or achievement. Do not forget to attach relevant photos if is available. Send it in Word format to the following e-mail address: info@institut-isi.si or sara@institut-isi.si. For additional information, visit the journal's website: www.wiki.sanitarc.si. If you require more information, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Please feel free to share this invitation with your colleagues as well as our presentation available on IFEH website.

We look forward to successful cooperation.

Kind regards,

Sara TAJNIKAR
